Correspondence N. Y. Tribune. On the 15th inst., Capt. William P. Pierce, a Kentuckian by birth, a gal-iant officer of the Union army during the late war, a staunch Republican, and the regular nominee of the Republi-cans of this (IId) Congressional district, for the United States Congress, profor the United States Congress, pro-ceeded to Americus, Sumter county, a town but a few miles from Andersontown but a few miles from Anderson-ville, for the purpose of making his first speech in the canvass of his dis-trict. He was accompanied by Mr. John Murphy, a native of Indiana, and now a citizen and the sheriff elect of this county, elected by a Republican majority of about 700 in a poll of about 2,220. Reaching Americus, they regis-tered their names at the hotel. Five 2,200. Reaching Americus, they registered their names at the hotel. Five minutes thereafter they were informed by the proprietor that his boarders insisted upon his turning these gentlemen out of the house. They were Radicals, they must leave, or he could not be landlord of theirs. The gentlemen replied, "Erase our names from your book." Shortly after this they addressed the colored Republicans, amid the mutterings and curses of the white citizens, who were in town in force. After speaking, they went by invitation to the hother of H. K. McCoy, a Republican and Associate Chief Justice of the State. While there the colored Republicans attempted to march through the public square with drums and fife, though unarmed. They were ordered by the Judge of the Saperior Court, then in session, to stop the noise, meaning that of the drum and fife. Some advantage was a supported to the sealers of the state.

Messrs. Pierce and Murphy, knowing nothing of this, approached the public square, paying little heed to the warnings of the colored people, who told them that the whites had sworn to kill them. The Mayor addressing the mob The Mayor addressing the mol was informed by angry men that the blacks should not be harmed, but the two 'd-d white scoundrels" should die. Messrs. Pierce and Murphy neared the square an old white man said, more to himself than to either of these gentle men, "God d-n you, you will never leave that square alive." They then turned, and by a circuitous route reached the office of Mr. W. C. Morrill, Agent of the Freedman's Bureau, where they took refuge. They reamined con-cealed thus until after nightfall, when

The extreme poverty of the people of the Southern States for the last four or five years has forced them to new fields of industry for means to live, and among other new things made marketable, we observed by a statement in the Richmond Enquirer, is the gathering of Sumac, which has become an article of considerable commerce. Large quantities of it are gathered in the counties of Eastern Virginia and sent the Richmond, Alexandria and Fredericksburg for sale. These are dried and packed in bags, and seli readily for from one dollar and seventy-five cents to two dollars per hundred pounds. It grows spontaneously, and the crop of next year is improved by breaking off the growth of the present year. It is used in tanning leather and as a dye stuff. This pond is near the house of a Dr. Dosher, some two miles from Camilla.

One freedman, known to no your correspondent, stated that he laid last night concealed in a swamp with four others; that he heard the white men socuring the woods, shouting, cursing and firing that he heard the cries and shrieks of the negroes as they were shot down or torn by the bloadhounds; that two of his comrades who became frightened and attempted to leave the swamp were shot within his hearing.

[Extract from official report of Major O. H. Howard, U. S. A., to Col. J. R. Lewis, U. S. A., at Atlanta.]

The affair at Camilla seems to have been a massacre. I inclose an accurate list of the killed and wounded, so far as known. A freedman, who was a prisoner at Camilla, but who escaped during the night, states that he helped to remove one dead freedwoman and four freedmen from the road within 100 yards of the Court House. The white men, his captors, boasted to new comers of 12 freedmen killed in one pond near Dr. Dosher's, two miles from Camilla. Another freedman took refuge in a swamp, where he lay concealed all last night with two others neor, him. He heard during all the earlier part of the night the white men sconning the woods, shouting, cursing, and shooting the freedmen. The pursconring the words, shouling, cursing, and shooting the freedmen. The pursuers were accompanied by bloodhounds. He heard the cries and shrieks hounds. He heard the cries and shrieks of the fugitives as they were shot, and as they were pulled down by the dogs, two of the men near him becoming frightened endeavored to escape, and both were shot within his hearing. It was reported to me as late as 4 o'clock this p. m., that up to 8 o'clock this morning, when my informant left, they were still pursuing the freedmen with horses and dogs.

Editors Intelligencer:

GENTLEMEN:—Political excitement is not in the least abated here, although the weather has been unfavorable for any public demonstration within the last week. The Grand Torch-Light Procession of last Tuesday night week, in honor of our victory in Maine, is the last noteworthy demonstration, and, though not so great in numbers, as previous processions of similar character, yet the strict good order that prevailed in the ranks throughout the entire route, the fine uniforms of most of the ward delegations, and the character and abundance of music, were matters particularly conspicuous, and deserv-Editors Intelligencer: particularly conspicuous, and deserv-ing of special commendation. The men stepped off to the excellent music in a manner that indicated their hearts were in the cause, and assured that the senti-ments that adorned their transparencies would before long become the senti-ments of the whole people. "Grant, our Country's deliverer, our Nation's choice."

The weather here recently has become intensely cold, for the season. Shop-keepers have drawn in their light and and lively summer attractions, and exposed the less attractive, but more substantial regala of winter. Placards announcing arrivals of "Winter Styles" have become commonplace, and indeed an overceal is about as much in keephave become commonplace, and indeed an overcoat is about as much in keep-ing with the demands of the weather to-day, as a summer coat was two weeks ago. Pearl street, however, at just such a season, reaps its harvest of trade. Where one would have seen,

The fall trade, in all departments, is fally opened, and, opening as it has in excess of what might reasonably have been expected, it goes to confirm our predictions of a larger trade this season than we enjoyed during the corresponding season of list year. We hope, too, for a more certain one. Notwithstanding the disposition, in some sections of the South, to inaugurate a petty rebellion movement, I think the people are assured that such a movement would be of short duration and full of terror to the projectors and and participators, and this feeling of greater security under the government, together with the fact that the pecuniary condition of these people is improving, is bringing our trade slow ly, but surely, to the high standard it once attained, and will in time cerry it beyond its former maximum.

There is no hesitation in purchases by our Southern buyers in view of the Presidential election. No calm, thoughtful man, of whatever shade of political opinion, will concede that he entertains a doubt as to the result. The
